

OWSLEY IS ELECTED LEGION COMMANDER

Texan Polls 574 Votes to 251 for Deegan, Second in Balloting.

IS MADE UNANIMOUS

New Leader Pledges Him- self to Continue Fight for Bonus.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20 (Associated Press).—The American Legion wound up its five day convention here to-day after unanimously electing Alvin M. Owsley of Texas national commander to succeed Hanford MacNider of Iowa, and hearing a plea for international action, which, according to its sponsors, the wounded men of the Inter-Allied Veterans Federation, would bring about world peace. Vice-commanders and a national chairman were also elected in the final session.

Then the convention was adjourned and the delegates rushed to railroad stations to catch trains back home. In stormy sessions the Legion reaffirmed its position on the so-called soldier bonus—adjusted compensation in terms of the Legionnaires' preference for the bonus. The Legionnaires criticized Brig-Gen. Sawyer, personal physician to the President, and coordinator of the Federal Hospitalization Board, and tabled resolutions dealing with the Volstead Act, the Ku Klux Klan and various minor issues. It was averred again that its first intent was proper care for the disabled of the war. Next year's convention will be held in San Francisco.

On the first ballot for commander Owsley received 574 votes, Deegan of New York, 231; Thompson of Pennsylvania, 205, and McCormick of Colorado, 12. Then Owsley's election was made unanimous. Five national vice-commanders were elected as follows: Edward J. Barrett, Sheboygan, Wis.; Robert S. Blood, Concord, N. H.; Charles P. Plummer, Casper, Wyo.; Earl Cooke, Macon, Ga.; Watson B. Miller, Washington, D. C. Father William B. O'Connor of Ohio was elected national chaplain by a vote of 714 to 374 over the Rev. Clara Clemens of Minnesota, who at once moved that the vote be made unanimous. Mr. Owsley was introduced by Commander MacNider and thanked the convention.

"Please accept my heartfelt gratitude," he said, "for the greatest honor that could come to one who served in the world war. We pledged to America in the world war that we were her defenders. We must now pledge even greater service."

"There are four great principles on which we rest—hospitalization, rehabilitation, adjusted compensation and Americanization. I pledge the best energies of my manhood and my sacred honor to the cause of these principles."

Mr. Owsley, when barely 30, had gained distinction as a soldier and statesman in Texas. He resigned as District Attorney at the outbreak of war to attend the first training camp open to volunteers, and was assigned as a Major of Infantry in the Thirty-sixth division. In this capacity he recruited his own battalion and a large part of the division in northern Texas.

After serving as division insurance officer and senior instructor of the third officers' training school at Camp Bowie he went overseas with his division, of which he was made adjutant. He took part in two major engagements, Champagne and the Argonne.

After the armistice he went to London, where he attended the courts of law and studied English procedure. He resumed the practice of law following his discharge in July, 1919, and was appointed Assistant Attorney-General of Texas.

As head of the Legion's legislative committee in that State he won in a fight for a $2,000,000 hospital for disabled service men, the bill being passed by unanimous vote. He resigned his position as Assistant Attorney-General in February, 1921, to become assistant director of the Legion's national Americanization commission.

Election of national officers and speeches by Gen. Pershing and Keneasaw M. Landis featured the closing session of the American Legion Auxiliary convention.

Dr. Barrett, who is 69 years old, is a national figure in woman activities. She had four sons and three grandsons in military service and was active in war camp work during the war. She has

POLISH PIANIST WINS SUCCESS GIVING FIRST RECITAL HERE

Muenz, 22 Year Old Artist, Displays Admirable Technique at His American Debut.

By W. J. HENDERSON.

Musician Muenz, a Polish pianist, gave his first recital in this country in Aeolian Hall last evening. On his program were the last variations on Bach's "Weinen Klagen," a minuet by Bach (said to be performed for the first time here), Cesar Franck's "Prelude Aria and Finale," a group of Chopin numbers and some other pieces. Mr. Muenz is young. He was born in 1900, and his later studies were under the tutelage of the eminent Peruchio Busoni.

It was a pleasure to listen to a youthful pianist with so much to offer. Negative qualities should not enjoy the first esteem, yet there was much significance in the repose, the confidence and the respect of the young player for his music. Interpretation rather than personal revelation interested him, and he compelled a brilliant and fluent technique to serve his artistic purposes.

Then the convention was adjourned and the delegates rushed to railroad stations to catch trains back home. In stormy sessions the Legion reaffirmed its position on the so-called soldier bonus—adjusted compensation in terms of the Legionnaires' preference for the bonus.

Ganna Walska to Give Concert at Paris Opera

Wife's Appearance Will Cost
Mr. McCormick at Least
1,500,000 Francs.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
Copyright, 1922, by THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau. Paris, Oct. 20. (Herald.)—Ganna Walska (Mrs. Harold P. McCormick) intends to sing in at least one concert at the Paris Opera this winter, though it will cost her husband at least 1,500,000 francs. According to friends of Mrs. Walska, who is now touring the provincial cities to regain self-confidence, Director Rouché of the opera is willing to grant her the privilege if thereby the Opera's budget is to be benefited, and the McCormick millions predicate a decided stimulus.

Mrs. Walska's co-concerts thus far have met with kindly treatment by the critics, though it is doubted that she will ever be able to attain a footing in the Chicago or Metropolitan Opera Company. The first few numbers invariably are well rendered, but she tires rapidly, and the end of the concert finds the would-be prima donna almost breathless.

JACK JOHNSON TO PLAY
OTHELLO WITHOUT PAINT

Black Fighter Will Grapple
With Shakespeare.

Despite the fact that the Shakespeare memorial fund is said to be in straitened circumstances at Stratford-on-Avon, the poet's fame now appears to be secure. For Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world and conqueror of James J. Jeffries, is going in for Shakespeare with both fists. Johnson, having passed the point where he can score a knockout in the ring, is now going to see if he can score a hit on the screen.

James A. Sachs, attorney, announced last night here that he was acting on behalf of Bert Jones, theatrical producer, and was drawing up the papers for the incorporation of a company to be known as the Jack Johnson Play Producing Company, with the open and avowed purpose of presenting Jack in "Othello," come what may. Needless to say, Johnson will show his Shakespearean erudition in the leading role, which he will play without a makeup.

Notes of the Stage.

"The Faithful Heart" ends its engagement at the Broadway Theatre to-night and will carry its message to Maxine Elliott's Theatre next Monday, assuming a place for "Springtime of Youth" to spend the winter in New York.

Harry Pender and Gladys Walton, appearing in "The Lady in Ermine" at the Ambassador Theatre, last night for an encore to their dancing performance of the "Castle Walk," because it was sure to make a hit with at least one person in the audience named Irene Castle.

Lloyd George, following the Premier's resignation, will appear personally at the Central Theatre next week in "Sluggish Around," doing buck and wing dances. He is not related to the English statesman in spite of his name and an ability to tread carefully over a difficult way.

Producers of the Boston Rotary Club, headed by Charles H. Hood, president, invaded the Hippodrome last night and saw "Better Times," in retaliation for a visit paid to Boston two months ago by a group of New York Rotarians.

Lenore Ulric will have her 375th tantrum in "Kiki" at the Belasco Theatre to-night.

Eva Tanguay, with a new bag of songs, will commence expending her voice on the Low circuit at Loew's State November 6.
